Dear Mr. Heinzman.:

Thank you for your continued interest in the dioxin contamination in the Saginaw Bay watershed. As your e-mail indicated, Administrator Lisa Jackson, U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) did put on hold EPA's negotiations while a high-level team from her office and EPA Region 5 met with individuals regarding their concerns and options for addressing the site.

The EPA Team met with the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality, Dow Chemical and various officials and organizations representing a range of environmental, governmental and business interests on March 18th and 19th, 2009. The EPA Team found the meetings and discussions to be very helpful and is currently in the process of sharing the information gained with the Administrator. EPA is hoping to be able to share its perspective on the direction it intends to follow within the next several weeks. As we take the first steps toward achieving a comprehensive cleanup at this site, I assure that EPA will continue its efforts to work with you and others in the community to ensure meaningful opportunities for public involvement.

Again, thank you for your letter. If you have further questions, please contact Ms. Wendy Carney of my staff at 312-353-6553.

Sincerely,

Richard C. Karl, Director
Superfund Division
